

Alexandria Gazette.

VOLUME LXVI.

ALEXANDRIA, VA., FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 9, 1866.

NUMBER 255.

PUBLISHED (DAILY) BY
EDGAR SNOWDEN, SR., OFFICE—GAZETTE BUILDING, Prince street, near Fairfax.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION—Seventy-five cents per month; or Eight dollars PER ANNUM, payable in advance.

TO THE PUBLIC.
The desire we have had, for several years of gloom, to be able once more to present the ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE to its subscribers and readers, in something approaching to its previous form, size, and appearance, is to-day, fulfilled; and we have the happiness to lay before them, and the public, this sheet, with the hope that it will meet all their reasonable expectations, and secure to its future support an additional amount of patronage, which will compensate us for the heavy additional expense, to be incurred hereafter in the publication of the paper. Not only our own feelings, natural enough to those in our situation, but the request of many of our former subscribers and advertisers, continued for months past, have induced us, to make this enlargement, and to rely upon a generous public to sustain us in "restoring and rehabilitating" the old Gazette, "in statu quo ante bellum."

Few persons in this section received a heavier blow, or were more seriously injured than we were, by the calamity which destroyed our property and our business. But we have indulged in no useless repinings, nor have we ever lost confidence in the future.— So, we have kept steadily on, working with our limited means and resources, and looking forward to this day, as the commencement of new and brighter prospects. We have been enabled to rebuild our office, to procure ample materials, steam press, job presses, and type, and to place ourselves in a situation, to ask for the business of this community and the surrounding country, with the certainty of giving satisfaction to our friends and the public generally. Hereafter, we hope to make something for ourselves. To begin life, as it were, anew, is a hard task; but there is nothing dispiriting in it, to us. To labor, honestly, in the path of duty, is perhaps, the best condition of man. And we accept that condition cheerfully, well content if we shall do our duty, and receive a moderate remuneration for our labor.

An experience in our profession, of so many years, enables us to apply its lessons. While we see in the past many sins of omission and commission, we are more than ever satisfied of the general correctness of our editorial course, and of the principles on which this paper has always been conducted.— And we shall not deviate from them now, for the fear of censure, or hope of reward. Tolerance, forbearance, reason, argument, and good temper, should be as much the characteristics of a newspaper as of a gentleman. What good did abuse, malignity, passion or distortion of facts, ever do a cause, a party, or an individual? What sensible man places as much confidence in the violence of a writer, as he does in the calmness and discretion of one who addresses his common sense and his judgment? Who, in the long run, is the most to be depended on? Nor is this course which we claim to be one of the qualifications of the press, which gives it power, and secures the approbation of the best and wisest men, at all incompatible with entire independence, the strongest assertion of the right, and the most constant devotion to what is believed to be, truth and justice. These can be maintained just as consistently and just as firmly, and far more effectively, with moderation, than with malevolence and anger, with revilings, and in bad temper.

We hope, then, to give our readers, daily, as far as we are able to do, the GAZETTE, as it formerly was, with such improvements and additions, as are demanded by the spirit of the times, and the increased facilities which may be placed within our reach.

Our great object will be, hereafter as before, to furnish a NEWSPAPER which will be acceptable and agreeable to men of business; to families; in the counting room, in the shop, and at the family fireside. We shall not be so anxious to give our own lucubrations as to spread before the public the best that can be said by others on all topics of interest. In particular, we shall do all in our power to build up the fortunes, to revive the prosperity, and increase the happiness of our own state, in all its departments, agricultural, commercial, and manufacturing. We invite all contributions to that end—and hope that our friends will omit no opportunity to furnish us with statements, which may contribute to the future welfare of Virginia. And, especially, in all that concerns our own city—we shall use our utmost exertions to bring about a restoration of its former prosperity—its business and its trade. Here, where all the affections of childhood, the prospects of manhood, and the yearnings of advancing years, are garnered—where we were born, and raised, and hope to die,—we may be pardoned for saying, here are our "chiefest hopes and ardent longings."

We have remarked at the commencement of this brief salutatory, that the future publication of this paper, in this form, will require a large additional expenditure. Even the sheet that we have issued almost during the entire war, and since peace, has required a weekly outlay, much larger than most people suppose, and which has strained our exortions to meet. Before the war, this paper, had, in all probability, the largest circulation of any journal in the State out of Richmond—and this amount of income was always more than met by us, in the sums expended in obtaining the earliest news. We had a nightly express from Washington—full telegraphic reports from all portions of the country—correspondents in different quarters liberally paid for furnishing us with news, &c., &c. All this we desire, in time, to restore. For the present, we must be content, with less expanded views. But we invite our former subscribers in the Country, and all our citizens in town, to lend us a helping hand. We would be pleased to see our mail boxes filled with the names of all our old friends, and many new ones. Our town list is already larger than ever before, but there is room for all.

We shall show our gratitude by additional efforts to make the Gazette worthy of their countenance and favor.

We wish it, moreover, distinctly understood, that in the prosecution of our publication, hereafter, we must do a strictly cash business.
Experience has, here, taught us another lesson. We have due us, thousands of dollars earned by unremitting toil, and for work which was paid for by us to others. How much of this will be totally lost, we cannot say; we would gladly compound for half.— But now the necessity upon us is too urgent to admit of a longer continuance of the credit system. We have to pay, in cash, for everything connected with the publication of this paper, every week. Our subscriptions, advertising, &c., must, therefore, be in cash, too. All reasonable men will see the justice of this, and approve of our determination.

With these few introductory remarks, we hand our subscribers the old GAZETTE, in its old form, wishing them health and happiness, and asking for their renewed support.

PUBLIC SALE OF VALUABLE LAND.
By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court of Fauquier county, pronounced the 12th day of December, 1865, in the suit of Hutton vs.
Bastable, the undersigned, who were therein appointed special Commissioners for that purpose, will, on Friday, 9th of February, 1866, at 10 o'clock, A. M., on the premises, at public auction, to the highest bidder, A TRACT OF LAND, belonging to G. M. Bastable, in the county of Fauquier, and is the same land allotted to said Bastable, in the partition between him and Jas.
J. Hutton and contains by recent survey 805 1/2 ACRES. This is one of the very finest farms in the county, Virginia; is well adapted to the growth of all cereals, and is unsurpassed as a Grazing Farm. It is beautifully situated on both sides of Cedar Run, and is composed entirely of the first and second bottoms of that stream. It lies within half a mile of the Warrenton Junction, on the O. & A. R. R. It has upon it a very VALUABLE MILL, fitted for grinding corn, and which might, with a small outlay, be made one of the finest flouring mills in the county; also, a first-class SAW MILL, in good repair.
The DWELLING HOUSE is comfortable, and small. James J. Hutton, esp., who lives on the premises, will take pleasure in showing it to persons desirous to purchase. It is believed that no opportunity for a good investment, equal to this, has for a long time been offered to the public.

Terms of Sale.—One-fourth of the purchase money will be required in cash on the day of sale. The balance in one, two, and three equal annual instalments, to bear interest from the day of sale. The title to the land will be withheld as a security for deferred payments, and the land will be resold by order of Court, upon failure to pay any one of deferred payments.
JOHN M. FORBES,
B. H. SHACKELFORD,
EPPA HUNTON,
Special Commissioners.
